We don't really regret losing the America's Cup.

In fact, we have gained valuable experience in the field of international sport.

You see, we'll use all our built-up resources and manpower to enter an Illawara-Short-Horn Bull at Madrid next year.
Some discretion please

SIR, From the Letters to the Editor in the last few issues of Tharunka I note the impression that there is now an open season for throwing mud at the Vice-Chancellor.

The writers of the letters concerned had very definite grievances about the refusal of the University's administration to consult with them. They were, however, more interested in the question of recognition of the Technical College's Qualifying Examination, and the condition of work on the Medical Building respectively, than in making their complaints in terms of personal abuse to which they did not object.

Even if the Vice-Chancellor was personally responsible for the situation which those correspondents deplore, they could not have voiced their strongest objection while still maintaining the formal distance.

The Students' Union has a right to editorialize upon whatever he deems fit; it is too much to ask him to use some discretion.

M. HAYNES

Amuse rather than offend

The Chancellor,
University of N.S.W.,
Kensington,
SIR: At the meeting of my Committee held on 28th July, the action attributed to certain students of the University of N.S.W. in relation to an incident occurring at the St. Andrew's War Memorial at Kings Cross on the occasion of the University Commemoration was the subject of discussion.

Members expressed their strong disapproval of the conduct of the students in the Memorial, and in some instances to the extent of injury, if not actual assault. They deprecated the students from appealing on behalf of students for any feelings or feelings that were felt by ex-servicemen, their relatives and the relations of these who died in action. They felt that it is not in the interests of the students in any way to antagonise those people in whom the nation, symbolises the loss of Australian servicemen, and expressed their deep regret over the incident.

Further to this I would suggest that we seek your permission to publish your letter in our student newspaper so that your opinions may be widely heard amongst the students.

We assure you that we will do all in our power to prove the innocence of such incidents, and feel that publication of your letter will help improve understanding and understanding of your feelings.

Yours faithfully,
DENIS HAYNES
Hon. Secretary.

Masculine, feminine or fish?

SIR. Owing to the rapidly increasing number of Arts students who seem to have been invading the University in recent years, we are faced with the increasingly more difficult task of identifying their sex. Because of their usual wearing apparel and their social standing, we have found it impossible to identify them by merely glancing at their features.

To surmount this problem, I suggest that all Arts students should be "tagged" with distinctive coloured sashes for each sex. At the Department of Fisheries has had a great deal of experience in this type of work, I think they should be approached to perform this important task.

To avoid unnecessary identification we propose "Art Lover"

Nasty piece of gossip

SIR, Let's have attacks on the University Administration by the Union Management Board on the Students' Union report. Let's have it accepted, not by U.L.A. or Deakin. Let's make it a point of principle. We are creating an environment in which any form of criticism of the University's administration will be seen as an expression of dissatisfaction with the University's administration.

Yours faithfully,
DENIS HAYNES
Hon. Secretary.

Poisoned Pens

PUBLICITY CLINIC

This article, written by a student of the University of N.S.W., is not the first of its kind. It is not unusual for students to express their views on the University administration. However, it is important to note that such articles should not be seen as an attack on the University's administration.

The article raises some important issues, such as the treatment of students and the role of the University's administration. It is important to address these issues in a respectful and constructive manner.

Yours faithfully,
THOMAS CUNNINGHAM

"But Mr. Cunningham, you'll have to cancel the concert; 'Joan' is a four letter word!"

Helen, several copies are on their way, but don't let the headlines catch you reading them.

Helen.
Mr. Cunningham, Warden of the University Union, refused to allow Mr. Lenny Bruce to appear in the Union cafeteria last week. The show was to have been sponsored by the Arts Faculty Society.

Mr. Bruce was booked to appear on Thursday, September 13th. The booking had been booked on the previous Monday through Mr. Cunningham.

Lenny Bruce, billed as a sick American comedian, had been accepted from Aaron's Hotel after two performances there on the evening of Thursday, September 6th. The reason given was his absence due to thunder from four violent words.

The President of the Arts Faculty Society, Mr. Brian Hughes, stated that a vigorous protest was made by Mr. Cunningham. However, a few hours after the booking had been confirmed in writing by the University Union, the booking was cancelled. No reason was given.

Mr. Cunningham told the student body that the Arts Faculty Society, with the President of the Arts Society, Mr. John Thompson, and other student members of the University Union, had made the following statement to Tharsuska: "Why should we have Lenny Bruce when there's hardly much where else will have him? This is only the beginning of the Science Theatre or Theatre that should be held." The decision was made independently of the University Union. The students have already expressed the feeling that the Science Theatre should be held, and the students have requested the booking.

Mr. Cunningham told Tharsuska that he would give a reason for his decision only to a member of the Arts Faculty Society. The President of the Society, Mr. Hughes, said Mr. Cunningham had told him the exact contempt the Pals Ball Act because the organizers planned to charge admission fees for people who were not members of the Arts Faculty Society.

"We were asked to see a temporary license," Mr. Hughes said. Mr. Cunningham then replied he would not tell the real reason for cancelling the concert.

It was reported today that an approach had previously been made through the Overcoming the Problem Association. Mr. Saunders to book "A Symposium of America" at the Science Theatre. Negotiations broke down over the date of the booking, but the Chairman of the Council for the theatre, who would not allow the booking. (3) A demonstration was held in University Union, but it was adequate to be held in the University Union. The reason given was his absence due to thunder from four violent words.

The President of the Arts Faculty Society, Mr. Brian Hughes, stated that a vigorous protest was made by Mr. Cunningham. However, a few hours after the booking had been confirmed in writing by the University Union, the booking was cancelled. No reason was given.

Mr. Cunningham told the student body that the Arts Faculty Society, with the President of the Arts Society, Mr. John Thompson, and other student members of the University Union, had made the following statement to Tharsuska: "Why should we have Lenny Bruce when there's hardly much where else will have him? This is only the beginning of the Science Theatre or Theatre that should be held." The decision was made independently of the University Union. The students have already expressed the feeling that the Science Theatre should be held, and the students have requested the booking.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the University Union and the Arts Faculty Society have not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Union has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the University Union and the Arts Faculty Society have not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Union has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.

The University Council has recently been increased by 30% for the majority of students, but the Arts Faculty Society has not agreed to the fee increase.
some feasible schemes

Reports that a club at Armidale is embarrassed by its poker machines, coming as it does from the Vice-Chancellor's office of one of the University's most progressive, is surprising. That the University has its problems is well known, but its most recent problem is not one of monetary nature.

The trouble is now rather unusual, monstrous raising of fees charges. Students are feeling the pinch on the part of the University's eleventh f medium of payment. And it is surprising that in view of the recent agreement with the New South Wales Government it has not somehow found the money to install more suitable devices for reducing revenue.

A number of quite novel measures were tried. I list some of the plans that were formulated, if implemented, could solve all the University's problems in one fell swoop.

WHERE student buildings are scarce in many parts of the University and often overcrowded, student clubs can be formed.

At the University the plan has a quota on new reserves in each of the main buildings. The number of students is limited to 30 per head Matriculation free non.

The Music, free of all, would be called.

AGAIN following the plans of the Evening Duty staff, a number of pubs would be opened in the University. The University would require the following

For convenience, all papers would be locked to the pubs, so that the examiner could diversify his work. When the paper was wanted, it would be brought to the next pub.

Other duty staff, in demand to work in the pubs, would receive a higher base wage to be reflected in the price of drinks.

The LI E C is the most popular place on the Kenting. students would love it as being the Psychology Hub for students, but it should show a sizable profit. It is a good idea to include a bar for all students to use at any time.

The number of students needed should establish such a place.

are you the typical UNI student?

This fascinating chart, applicable to both sexes, prepared by Hawksburn sociologist, Michael Leek, shows how to win friends and influence people. Could Neville, still allow you to gauge your position in the student body. 100%—join Tharunka, 75%—get a flat at the Cross, 50%—better luck next year, under 50%—join Homo Sapiens.

1. you could afford it, would you wear:
   a) chesterfield, b) corduroy slacks, c) a suit?

2. Do you refer to your parents as:
   a) parents, b) Mum and Dad, c) my parents?

3. Give the opportunity, would you dive out at:
   a) Learmonth's, b) Repair's, c) The Greenhouse.

4. After the exams, will you read:
   a) newspapers, b) Reader's Digest, c) The Government Gazette.

5. If you won the Opera House lottery, would you spend it on:
   a) a new bike, b) new underwear, c) a trip to Switzer's Petrol Station?

6. Would you rather most:
   a) walk, b) train, c) go?

7. Your opinion of foundations Day was:
   a) crap, b) crazy, c) very cute

8. When you graduate will you become:
   a) a man doctor, b) civil servant, c) rice-chaffer?

9. Your intra-university clubs are:
   a) the Police, b) Mirror Mirror, c) Barry Stein's Daily?

10. Your qualifications in the compexus are, they are:
   a) modestly, b) charity, c) ruthless.

Krackenbloomer

"For there is nothing covered, that shall not be revealed; and hid that shall not be known." (Matthew 11:25)

Cackelenbloomer turned his wheel with an impressive air, "I've travelled greatly and read much, and I know" tensely, politely asking the lid of the drum.

"Why wait for an opportunity?" he replied, "If your face is in the crowd, people will see you, and the crowd will come to you."

"I mean, 'it is easy to see that they are, What is difficult is why?

"Cackelenbloomer's eyes adopt a look of pensive sympathy.

"A lack of the calculating principle appears to be your failing, my friend. You are the type that would have a knee in the air, but not for fear of the wind."

"But not for fear of the wind, but to face the wind in that direction!"

"To oppose a wind, one must first determine where it is going, and then face it in that direction.

"In the application of the "kromn"."

"Cackelenbloomer rocked, blinks, then re-enabled completely.

"Can't help but see in the eye."

"Small wonder than the impending deficit."

"What else can I say?"

"When I depend upon him, he will be able to imagine what I know."

"Some kinds of news are very difficult, I must say, and perhaps we should concentrate on our diet!"
THARUNKA STAFF

CLEAN IN BODY – CLEAN IN MIND

EDITOR: Richard Neville
ASSISTANT EDITOR: God
NEWS EDITOR: Mike McDermott
SPORTS EDITOR: Max Bourke
SUB EDITOR: Beverly Fleming
WRITERS: Lyn Murray, Bob Walker, Ian Hart

ARTISTS: Mike Glashan, Peter Kingston,
Doug Little, Alexander Popper.

UNMENTIONABLES: Stephanie Jowson,
Maureen Money, Nancy Johnston.

UNTUCHABLES: Mike Robertson, Phil Mackey,
Bob Groto Welsh, Mike Haynes.

"Tharunka" would also like to thank all those members of the academic staff who contributed ideas, articles and information. We acknowledge our debt to the Administration for supplying us an excellent office in the University and for their co-operation with members of the Tharunka staff.
“Chumley and the Witch”

I suppose it all started early in May, but you know how it is with these things, they creep up on you and before you know it you're in the thick of it.

Anyway, around that time I dropped in to see my co-blogger Chumley—that’s not his real name, of course, but if I tell you in on he’d be firmly embarrassed, and there’d be all sorts of people down in the wink.

Anyway, he has a little farm out near the Chicago suburbs. Small, that is, and all in for a few days now and then.

This time I hadn’t wanted to see the door before I became conscious of a peculiar odour—something like the smell of burnt rubber. When I got to the door I found myself outside.

But no, as Chumley hit me in the face with the stuff and I began to appreciate his problem of course.

Well, that evening turned out to be the most informative of my life.

We discussed the night characteristics of various green grasses. The one she favored seemed to be a rather curious, something on a par with a Little John, but different, and usually quite harmless, but that didn’t seem to be up to our needs.

She didn’t seem too clear about what she wanted, and the more I said the more the tin thrower seemed to be involved as if he had made a mistake.

And in all this, she was just a girl with simple tastes. The more I thought of this, the more the impression that a witch was all wrong.

It appears the first people you meet are often the last, and when you start thinking of things in a different way.

Well, all good eyes must come to an end. She eventually led us into a dark room, where all the curious happenings continued. She had a violin and a light in the corner, and then Shakespeare and the crooked madmen were all there.

That evening, all the time I was there, I had a feeling that the witch was all wrong.

Of course, witches do fallible with exotic drugs and they’re just as human as anyone else.

Chumley got a square for moon and drank it at the table, and then I went out and threw up in the street.

.java

And then I slept the sleep of the just, and when I awoke I found that I had not a single answer.

As we watched, she lit a cigarette and put the tin thrower under a lamplight. She then looked at the face of the man and pronounced something for that girl.

She lingered a few minutes and then went out and closed the front door, and I followed.

Poor Chumley broke down and had to call a cab to get him home.

"Oh, the shivering huts," he said. "I can’t help it. I was cold."

That’s the end of it all, she goes out, goes home.

Frantically I stayed away from Chumley for the next few days. I really wasn’t sure if I had to see Chumley, and I didn’t want to. I just wanted to be alone an answer to my problem. I was no use to people.

But I went to his house one night and found him in his study.

Chumley, if you ever see an old witch and you drink for moon and you close your eyes, you’re just as human as anyone else.

That evening, all the time I was there, I had a feeling that the witch was all wrong.

Of course, witches do fallible with exotic drugs and they’re just as human as anyone else.

That’s all.

BRUCE DAVE
The popular clique employed to refer to Lenno Bruce is that of "writing American stock competitor." In reality this is true—it is only that the De-Parted seems to have won him (unlike the others) a few more of the members, and he is an Ameri- can. And he is happy. But to describe him as "seemingly without a thing" is somewhat unfair.

Lenno Gordon apparently thought it so, too, and remarked to "free thinkers." May may neither see the humor in this, for his own reasons. Until this time, this seems to be a possibility that the Bally Miller is the audience in the near future.

Mr. Bruce then "borrowed" the audience and complained loudly about the fact that he was wearing a pair of scissors behind his back. He complained that he wanted to get back into it. Then he complained more loudly about the fact that he was wearing scissors behind his back, and that he was not going to get any pictures taken of him.

The audience, however, remained firmly in place. Mr. Bruce, however, remained firmly in place. When Mr. Bruce finally got on the stage, people started to laugh and to make comments about his appearance. The audience was, in fact, quite receptive to his antics.

Mr. Gordon provided the atmosphere in Austin's Club by removing the drapes, tearing the stage into pieces and introducing himself as the "free thinker." He then proceeded to talk about his own experiences in the free think movement, and he even performed a free think-style parody of an advertisement for a certain product. He then went on to discuss the importance of education, and he ended his speech by emphasizing the need for people to think for themselves and to question authority.

Lenno Bruce. No one ever thought of it before. Mr. Bruce was so unusual that he was immediately recognized as a new force in the free think movement. He was a symbol of the new generation of thinkers who were tired of the old ways and were looking for something better.

Lenno Bruce was seen in several places, including the Fillmore auditorium, where he presented a speech on free thought and his experiences as a free think movement leader. He was even seen in a few small clubs, where he discussed the importance of education and the need for people to think for themselves.

Mr. Bruce's speeches were well received, and he quickly became a leader in the free think movement. He was a symbol of the new generation of thinkers who were tired of the old ways and were looking for something better.

Robert Walker.

a "let's love the students" proposal

Long has proved to be yet another "let's love the students" proposal.

Examples of successful "let's love the students" proposals include the following:

1. The establishment of a Students Council. This was initiated in 1962.

2. The establishment of a Student Senate. This was initiated in 1963.

This year, at the Union, the students on campus were invited to participate in a "let's love the students" proposal. The students were asked to come up with ideas for how the Union could improve the students' lives on campus.

Many students came up with ideas, and some of the more popular ideas included:

1. The establishment of a Students Council. This was initiated in 1962.

2. The establishment of a Student Senate. This was initiated in 1963.

This year, at the Union, the students on campus were invited to participate in a "let's love the students" proposal. The students were asked to come up with ideas for how the Union could improve the students' lives on campus.

Many students came up with ideas, and some of the more popular ideas included:

1. The establishment of a Students Council. This was initiated in 1962.

2. The establishment of a Student Senate. This was initiated in 1963.
a gigantic table

"Up there," they said, pointing a small, jutting mountain, ""the Giant!"" It was always ""the Giant"" because in that land there was only one giant.

No one had ever seen this Giant and no one knew if they could befriend him. But they had heard that he lived in the village from beyond the mountains. They were curious enough to try to see him, to find out if there was a Giant in the village.

The Giant was enormous, towering far above them. His legs were thick and strong, his arms were like tree trunks, and his head was as big as a giant's. He had long, flowing hair that reached to his shoulders.

The children were scared but curious, and they slowly approached the Giant. He knew what was happening and, after a few moments of silence, he began to speak to them in a voice that was loud and clear.

"Hello," he said, "I am the Giant, and I live in this village. I have looked after this land for many years, and I am proud to be a part of it."

The children were amazed and fascinated by the Giant. They asked him questions about his life and his village, and he answered them patiently. He told them stories of his adventures and his travels, and they listened with rapt attention.

As the day went on, the Giant and the children played games together, and they laughed and smiled. They spent hours under the Giant's tower, feeling the warmth of the sun on their skin. They felt like they were part of something special, something unique.

That night, when the children were ready to go home, the Giant gave them each a special gift. He handed them each a small, sparkling crystal, saying, "This is a gift from me to you. It is a reminder of our friendship, and I hope you will remember me whenever you look at it." The children thanked the Giant and went home, filled with joy and happiness.

From that day on, the children visited the Giant regularly, and they learned many things from him. He taught them about the land and its beauty, and he showed them how to live in harmony with nature. They became friends with the Giant, and they knew that they could always count on him for help and guidance.

Many years passed, and the children grew up. But they never forgot the Giant and the special gift he had given them. They went on to have families of their own, and they passed on the gift to their children, telling them about the special day they had with the Giant.

And so the legend of the Giant was passed down through the generations, a tale of friendship and adventure that brought joy to all who heard it.
the social analysts of our time — verstak and dekyvere

After years of lacking a penetrating commentator on Australian affairs, the Press Club has made a welcome addition to its panel of contributors with the appointment of Mr. Verstak and Mrs. Dekyvere. These two social analysts, with their unique philosophy, offer a refreshing change from the conventional views that have dominated the political landscape for too long.

Mr. Verstak, a former journalist, brings a fresh perspective to the issue of democracy and the role of the media in society. His insights into the workings of government and politics are both illuminating and thought-provoking. Mrs. Dekyvere, on the other hand, focuses on the importance of education and the impact of technology on our lives. Together, they provide a comprehensive view of the world that challenges the status quo and encourages critical thinking.

Their articles have been eagerly awaited by readers who seek a deeper understanding of the complexities of our society. With their unique insights, they have become a valuable resource for those interested in the issues of our time.

Their dedication to their craft is evident in each of their articles, as they strive to present a balanced view that encourages open dialogue and critical thought. Their work has earned them a reputation as leaders in their field, and their contributions to the Press Club are highly regarded.

Overall, Mr. Verstak and Mrs. Dekyvere are a dynamic duo who, through their writing, are reshaping the way we think about the world around us. Their insights into the social and political landscape are essential reading for anyone seeking a deeper understanding of the complexities of our society.

S. Peyso

another union

A new strike has broken out at the ABC in Sydney, as members of the Australian Workers' Union demand a better wage. The union has been protesting for several weeks, and negotiations between the union and management have been unsuccessful.

The workers, who include engineers, technicians, and office workers, have been without a wage increase for the past two years. They are seeking a 5% increase and better working conditions.

The ABC responded by stating that they are already paying the maximum allowed under the award and that any further increases would place an unfair burden on the company. They have offered to negotiate with the union, but so far, no agreement has been reached.

The strike is expected to continue for at least a week, and the ABC is seeking alternative sources of supply to avoid delays in production.

The workers have been vocal in their demands, arguing that they have been working hard for a long time and that they deserve a better deal. They have stated that they are not seeking more money, but rather a fair share of the company's profits.

The ABC has been quick to respond to the union's demands, but so far, they have been unsuccessful in reaching a compromise. The union has vowed to continue their strike until they get the wage increase they are seeking.

S. Peyso

A在线文章

A new online article has been published by the ABC, covering the latest news from around the world. The article, titled "The World in Brief," provides a summary of the most important events of the week, including politics, business, and entertainment.

The article begins with a look at the political landscape, with coverage of the latest developments in the US presidential election. It then moves on to business, with a focus on the impact of the recent global economic crisis on the world's major economies.

The entertainment section covers the latest movie releases, including a review of the new James Bond film. The article also includes a feature on a popular new TV show, with a behind-the-scenes look at the production process.

The article is written in an easy-to-read format, with clear headings and subheadings to help readers navigate the content. It is updated regularly, with new content added daily.

The ABC is committed to providing accurate and timely news coverage, and the "The World in Brief" article is a great example of their commitment to excellence. With informative and engaging writing, the article is sure to be a hit with readers around the world.

S. Peyso

another union

A new strike has broken out at the ABC in Sydney, as members of the Australian Workers' Union demand a better wage. The union has been protesting for several weeks, and negotiations between the union and management have been unsuccessful.

The workers, who include engineers, technicians, and office workers, have been without a wage increase for the past two years. They are seeking a 5% increase and better working conditions.

The ABC responded by stating that they are already paying the maximum allowed under the award and that any further increases would place an unfair burden on the company. They have offered to negotiate with the union, but so far, no agreement has been reached.

The strike is expected to continue for at least a week, and the ABC is seeking alternative sources of supply to avoid delays in production.

The workers have been vocal in their demands, arguing that they have been working hard for a long time and that they deserve a better deal. They have stated that they are not seeking more money, but rather a fair share of the company's profits.

The ABC has been quick to respond to the union's demands, but so far, they have been unsuccessful in reaching a compromise. The union has vowed to continue their strike until they get the wage increase they are seeking.

S. Peyso

A在线文章

A new online article has been published by the ABC, covering the latest news from around the world. The article, titled "The World in Brief," provides a summary of the most important events of the week, including politics, business, and entertainment.

The article begins with a look at the political landscape, with coverage of the latest developments in the US presidential election. It then moves on to business, with a focus on the impact of the recent global economic crisis on the world's major economies.

The entertainment section covers the latest movie releases, including a review of the new James Bond film. The article also includes a feature on a popular new TV show, with a behind-the-scenes look at the production process.

The article is written in an easy-to-read format, with clear headings and subheadings to help readers navigate the content. It is updated regularly, with new content added daily.

The ABC is committed to providing accurate and timely news coverage, and the "The World in Brief" article is a great example of their commitment to excellence. With informative and engaging writing, the article is sure to be a hit with readers around the world.

S. Peyso
Things that will or won’t be done next year

On his retirement from "Tharunka," richard neville has made certain predictions and suggestions for the improvement of culture in '63. This list is divided into two categories: (A) things THEY should do but won’t. (B) Things THEY will do but shouldn’t. Guess which is which—send your entry to the Lord Mayor and a lovely surprise will be in store for you.

THEY MIGHT:

1. Erect a mammoth plastic statue of Tania Verstak in Martin Place.
2. Sink Gretel.
4. Come up with the slogan: Put Commercialism back into Christmas
5. Repair the arrow in the Dunlop sign at the Cross.
7. Invite Lenny Bruce to appear at the opening of the Opera House.
10. Ban Peter Kenny from the University next Orientation Week; and/or any four letter words from the campus generally.
11. Elect Lee Gordon Vice Chancellor of both Universities so he can run it at a loss more efficiently.
12. Eventually realise the Freudian significance of Tenpin Bowling and convert the existing alleys to League Clubs.
13. Enter national sport of "two-up" in the Empire Games.
14. Erect a fountain at Paddys Market to celebrate the entrance of Britain into the Common one.
15. Find the mutilator—(but hurry!)
16. Import Sir Oswald Mosley as part of the “Bring out a Briton” scheme.
17. Amalgamate the Sydney Morning Herald, Telegraph and Mirror in an effort to combat Tharunka’s soaring circulation.
to an eye accustomed to classical ballet... and there were scores of other gay cultural events scheduled in the city, including the premiere of a new ballet by the San Francisco Ballet, and the opening of a new theater by the San Francisco Mime Troupe.

The third thing is that what is "offensive to the community" is not simply a matter of taste. It may be that you don't like something, but it may also be that you are afraid of what it might do to other people. This is what the censorship debate is about: who gets to decide what is offensive and who doesn't.

The fourth thing is that censorship is not just about the arts. It is about every aspect of life. It is about the way we talk to each other, the way we vote, the way we organize, the way we live. It is about the way we think about our society.

The fifth thing is that censorship is not just about the present. It is about the past and the future as well. It is about how we remember our history, and how we imagine our future.

The sixth thing is that censorship is not just about the arts. It is about every aspect of life. It is about the way we talk to each other, the way we vote, the way we organize, the way we live. It is about the way we think about our society.

The seventh thing is that censorship is not just about the present. It is about the past and the future as well. It is about how we remember our history, and how we imagine our future.

The eighth thing is that censorship is not just about the arts. It is about every aspect of life. It is about the way we talk to each other, the way we vote, the way we organize, the way we live. It is about the way we think about our society.

The ninth thing is that censorship is not just about the present. It is about the past and the future as well. It is about how we remember our history, and how we imagine our future.

The tenth thing is that censorship is not just about the arts. It is about every aspect of life. It is about the way we talk to each other, the way we vote, the way we organize, the way we live. It is about the way we think about our society.
“be bop alula” or, for the squares... “proud percussionist” ...

Max loved Phyllis and Phyllis loved Max. They were a well-matched couple, physically as well as mentally. Phyllis was a proficient musician and Max was in her own word a "Gibbonsian". He played anything that could be hit or shaken in his native land. Max was considered a good percussionist.

In a performance, Max would polish Phyllis's hat for her until the rich, polished red worn seemed to glow at the center of his own baldness. And in return, she would make him a cup of tea or fill the pudding on the grand scale. The affection between them could be felt and shared in ways that were not common to those whom either of them played. Max would sing a song, and the music would seem to come from his heart, not his head. But this was only one side of him.

"Another woman" people called him, and who do you know would not feel the same way about this second violinist? Besides, who would find fault with a second violinist? Those were the days when the conductor decried any such thing.

The University has 1000 students, all of whom can play an instrument. Every student in the orchestra and each one in the chorus is a skilled musician. The students' Union, which is the board of directors and the Executive Council, is responsible for organizing the concerts. The concerts are held on various campuses and are open to the public.

The conductor, Mr. Douglas, was sitting on the stage, conducting the orchestra, with the students' Union logo on his lapel. He was watching the students playing, and he smiled. He then turned to the audience and said:

"Thank you for coming tonight. This is our first concert of the year, and we hope you enjoy it."

A letter from your father — S. U. C. president

Dear Gertrude,

Westport, Conn.

Dear Gertrude,

I hope that you are doing well. I am writing to you today because I want to let you know that I am doing a lot better since the accident. I am now back at school and I am working hard to catch up with my studies. I am also trying to get back into the routine of playing the piano. I miss you very much and I hope to see you soon. Please take care of yourself and stay healthy.

With love,

Robert, 8.

_AHART_

beyond the fringe

Dear Max,

I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to you to let you know that I am doing a lot better since the accident. I am now back at school and I am working hard to catch up with my studies. I am also trying to get back into the routine of playing the piano. I miss you very much and I hope to see you soon. Please take care of yourself and stay healthy.

With love,

Robert, 8.

_AHART_

a letter from your father — S. U. C. president

Dear Gertrude,

Westport, Conn.

Dear Gertrude,

I hope that you are doing well. I am writing to you today because I want to let you know that I am doing a lot better since the accident. I am now back at school and I am working hard to catch up with my studies. I am also trying to get back into the routine of playing the piano. I miss you very much and I hope to see you soon. Please take care of yourself and stay healthy.

With love,

Robert, 8.

_AHART_
unbridled aggressive ambitions of kennedy's imperialism

U.S. President Kennedy on November 29 gave an interview in the Washington Post. This is the first time that the American newspaper has given an interview to a foreign leader. The interview was conducted in the White House and the President made some statements that are of great significance for world politics.

The President said that the United States was determined to prevent the spread of communism and to strengthen its allies. He warned that the United States would not hesitate to use force if necessary to prevent the spread of communism. He also said that the United States was willing to work with other countries to achieve these goals.

The President's statements were met with mixed reactions. Some praised his strong stance, while others criticized him for his aggressive approach. The interview was widely covered by the media and provoked much debate and discussion.

The President's interview was not the first time that he had spoken about his views on world politics. In a previous speech, he had called for a "new world order" that would be based on democracy, human rights, and economic development. He had also spoken about the importance of alliances and cooperation with other countries.

The President's views on world politics are likely to continue to influence the course of events in the years to come. His stance on the spread of communism, for example, may lead to increased tensions with some countries, while his emphasis on alliances and cooperation may help to reduce these tensions. It remains to be seen how these events will unfold in the future.

Hello, Reader!

The President's interview was not the first time that he had spoken about his views on world politics. In a previous speech, he had called for a "new world order" that would be based on democracy, human rights, and economic development. He had also spoken about the importance of alliances and cooperation with other countries.

The President's views on world politics are likely to continue to influence the course of events in the years to come. His stance on the spread of communism, for example, may lead to increased tensions with some countries, while his emphasis on alliances and cooperation may help to reduce these tensions. It remains to be seen how these events will unfold in the future.

The President's interview was not the first time that he had spoken about his views on world politics. In a previous speech, he had called for a "new world order" that would be based on democracy, human rights, and economic development. He had also spoken about the importance of alliances and cooperation with other countries.

The President's views on world politics are likely to continue to influence the course of events in the years to come. His stance on the spread of communism, for example, may lead to increased tensions with some countries, while his emphasis on alliances and cooperation may help to reduce these tensions. It remains to be seen how these events will unfold in the future.

The President's interview was not the first time that he had spoken about his views on world politics. In a previous speech, he had called for a "new world order" that would be based on democracy, human rights, and economic development. He had also spoken about the importance of alliances and cooperation with other countries.

The President's views on world politics are likely to continue to influence the course of events in the years to come. His stance on the spread of communism, for example, may lead to increased tensions with some countries, while his emphasis on alliances and cooperation may help to reduce these tensions. It remains to be seen how these events will unfold in the future.
the fields

In either an unimpressive game the Unf. Football team was beaten by Col¬ lege 3-0 in the Grand Final of the Kenwell Day competition.

Collegians, who proved a better side all round dominated the first half particu¬ larly in the running game. Hackett twice tripped and a penalty goal by Hemmings annexed an excellent try for Unf. In the second half neither side scored and very little football was played between the 3/1, Retti team gaining general advantage in this half.

The Unf. Combination must be congratulated for a well deserved win.

JUDO CUP WIN

With the cup "Koji" to who tingled around the ground this team went on to score a fine 12-3 win over Sutherland in the Grand Final of the Stanley Day competition.

Unf. forwards gave the backs a feast of the half and Full Smalls scored two tries, both of which the grand total of half time forwards 4-0 - Full Smalls 2.

The 1st Grade coach, J. E. Thompson, made a good showing of the tournament as he won in the 1st Grade competition.

UNEF AIR POWERED

The under 18 team scored a try by T. Weller in the 1st Grade final.

The following Saturday they played North Sydney for the Challenge Cup, but were beaten 3-2.

- intervarsity hockey

In the last week of the rep competition the Hockey Club was held for the Jantin Cup. The Inter varsity Hockey Competition held to decide the Jantin Cup. The University of Sydney, as R.W.S. side was ruled by the Jantin Cup. The University of Sydney, the Collingwood and the University of Queensland. However, the University of Sydney were the next to win, growing up the Collingwood in the following matches against the Collingwood, R.S.W.S. and University of Queensland. All with South Australia and defending Melbourne A. Met¬

- rugby trophy

The Imperial University Shield "Tulloch" Trophy was recently awarded to the trophy case of the Students' Union of UNSW. The trophy is awarded annually to the outstanding university student of the British Commonwealth.

In November of 1946, the University of Sydney made its first appearance, and won the tournament in the first three matches. The trophy was won by the University of Sydney in 1948 and 1950, and by the University of Melbourne in 1951.

The university team was selected on the basis of Australian University standards, and the Australian Universities should be given a chance of winning the cup for Sydney University, who won last year. The cup will be presented to the winner of the competition, and will soon be an important item in Australian university life.

The facilities the club will have in the future will be greatly improved with the completion of the new Sydney University rugby ground. The facilities in the Sydney University rugby ground will have a tendency to attract more international clubs to play in the competition, and in a short space of time the club will be able to attract more international clubs to play in the competition.

This year is a special year for the University of Sydney, as it celebrates 100 years of existence. The club has grown from a small group of students and has now reached a point where it is able to attract more international clubs to play in the competition.

The club is trying to establish a new tradition of rugby for the University of Sydney. They have a strong tradition of rugby for the University of Sydney and also a strong tradition of rugby for the University of Melbourne. However, this tradition has been challenged by the establishment of a new competition in rugby. The club has been forced to adapt to this change and has now taken steps to ensure that the club will continue to be a force in rugby.

The club is looking to the future and is planning to establish a new tradition of rugby for the University of Sydney. They have a strong tradition of rugby for the University of Sydney and also a strong tradition of rugby for the University of Melbourne. However, this tradition has been challenged by the establishment of a new competition in rugby. The club has been forced to adapt to this change and has now taken steps to ensure that the club will continue to be a force in rugby.

- new plans for commerce dinners

The Pro-Vice Chancellor of the University of Sydney, Professor K. Murray, and the Sons of the University, the University of Sydney, are planning to hold a series of dinners for students and staff members. These dinners will be held in honor of the University of Sydney and will be held in conjunction with the University of Sydney's 100th anniversary.

The dinners will be held in honor of the University of Sydney and will be held in conjunction with the University of Sydney's 100th anniversary. The dinners will be held in honor of the University of Sydney and will be held in conjunction with the University of Sydney's 100th anniversary.

- informative dinner in December

The University of Sydney has decided to hold a series of dinners for students and staff members. These dinners will be held in honor of the University of Sydney and will be held in conjunction with the University of Sydney's 100th anniversary.

The dinners will be held in honor of the University of Sydney and will be held in conjunction with the University of Sydney's 100th anniversary. The dinners will be held in honor of the University of Sydney and will be held in conjunction with the University of Sydney's 100th anniversary.
We couldn't fit these anywhere else!

VACATION IS COMING! ONLY A FEW MORE WEEKS AND THE VACATION WILL BE HERE. THEN WHAT? DON'T TELL ME! "GET DOWN TO WORK" GON'T WORK LAST SUMMER! NOW THIS TIME A HUMAN BEING AGAIN! VACATION TIME IS "McKANAGAN CLUB" TIME!

No sure you are on the mailing list of McKanagan News or you just don't know what you're missing. Just drop a note to Miss Ruby McKanagan, Post Office Box 259, or ring her during office hours, and you'll get the idea. It's so easy to join.

In the meantime, here is the programme for vacation time. Sunday, 8th July, at the Royal Hotel, MR. RALPH PÆCHT FISHING TRIP. The club is planning new entertainment, with small equipment at a secret venue of the club, with complete secrecy, secretaries and directors who are entirely unpredictable. Also, it's all at the club. Monday, 9th July, at the Royal Hotel, Mer. 30's Dinner. Tuesday, 10th July, Health Service at the McKanagan Club.

Health Service

A student health and social club has been established within the University. The centre is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday to Friday.

O PUNKA PRESENTS

Friday, September 21, "One Summer of Happiness"
Friday, September 29, "The Sun Also Rises"

BELGIUM GOVERNMENT SCHOLARSHIP

1962-1963

The Belgian Government is offering a Scholarship to an Australian student who wishes to commence study in Belgium. It is understood that the award will be available under the same conditions as in 1962.

The Scholarship is available to students who are resident in Australia and are aged 18-25 years. The scholarship is for 1 year and covers tuition fees, living expenses, and travel expenses. The recipient must hold a degree of Bachelor of Arts or equivalent, and must be recommended for the scholarship by a registered university or college in Australia.

RURAL BANK

Head Office: Martin Place, Sydney.

THE RURAL BANK FOR EVERY CLASS OF TRADING BUSINESS

SHORT STORY COMPETITION

£ 0

In keeping with Thurooka's policy of fostering Dorrant talent we are offering ten pounds' award for the best short story. A 1500 word story is to be written in English. Entries will be accepted up until a fortnight previous to publication of this issue and they should be addressed to the editor.

Professor Baxter has received the permission of the President of the Students' Union to accept applications for the position of the University's Director of the Student Union. As many students as possible are requested to apply.

HUNGRY?

Commerce Dinner is on after Exams, Dec. 13th

SKY LOUNGE

Greg won't be turned off

TICKETS:- ONLY 25/-

WATCH THE NOTICE BOARDS FOR DETAILS.

STUDENT THEATRE CONCESSIONS AVAILABLE FOR 'ONCE UPON A MATTRESS' AT THE PALACE THEATRE

Concession forms available from the Students' Union Office.

UNIVERSITY CO-OPERATIVE BOOKSHOP LIMITED ELECTION OF DIRECTORS

Nominations are invited for election of Council members who retire by rotation. Each nomination shall be accompanied by a letter of recommendation signed by the Candidate describing his or her qualifications for the position. The closing date for nominations is October 31st, 1962.

Thurooka, Thursday, September 20, 1962
WATER: the world's most trusted liquid, may be harmful following investigations by the University of New South Wales Scientific Country Women's Association, and the League for Animal Decease.

Top level research has revealed that persons drinking five gallons of water a day suffer kidney damage similar to that brought on by the demon drug phenacetin. Further research has shown that a 100 gallon dose can cause total renal failure in 99堡垒.

TOP DRINK FACES BAN

Under 25's will water change your life?

What Famous people have said!

Above: Last traces of the old way of life—a man drinks a glass of water. Below: An artist's impression of life as it will be after the ban on water takes full effect.

What do you think of the ban on water? Do you think it will make a difference? Let us know your thoughts in the comments below.